AWARDS & ACCOLADES

2023 ~ 96 Points. BEST SYRAH"Violet-red. Spicy nose: olive, black pepper, blackberries, tobacco. On the palate it is fruity, ripe, medium-bodied, and textured. A vibrant wine." - Club de Amantes del Vino Guía Mesa de Cata, 2026

2023 ~ 95 Points. BEST PRICE-QUALITY "Expressive nose, with deep black fruits and a hint of sandalwood. The palate shows great concentration, with notes of cocoa, saline acidity, earth, and a meaty undertone. Although powerful, it has excellent balance thanks to vibrant acidity that provides tension and freshness. Notes of spices, pepper, and sandalwood also emerge. A very well-crafted wine, complex, flavorful, and full of character." - Alistair Cooper MW, Catad'Or Wine Guide, Apr/2025

2023 ~ 93 Points. "An outstanding syrah from Leyda that shows a hint of lard and spices to the dried Mediterranean herbs and deep, peppery damson plums and dark cherries. Fruit-forward and medium-bodied with fine tannins and a juicy, pristine finish. A bit more midpalate depth would take it to greatness. Already delicious but can hold." - Zekun Shuai - James Suckling, Mar/2025

2023 ~ 93 Points. "The 2023 T.H. Syrah Leyda originated from a high-density, stake-trained plot and was fermented with 25% whole clusters and matured in foudre. It is quite inky and black-fruited on the nose, with leather, smoked meat, herbs and laurel adding savory complexity. The palate is lush and rich, echoing the nose's inkiness before a touch of sweetness gives way to lively acidity and gentle tannins that provide impressive structural tenacity at this price point." - Matthew Luczy - Robert Parker's Wine Advocate, Apr/2026

2023 ~ 92 Points. "The 2023 Syrah TH Leyda comes from Aconcagua Costa. Fermented with 20–25% whole clusters, it offers a coastal profile with dark, intense aromas and a hint of wild herbs that are reminiscent of tarragon. Taut and juicy with a smooth texture, it finishes with a soft black spice note. The 2023 is expressive and flavorful." - Joaquín Hidalgo - Antonio Galloni's Vinous, Jun/2025

2023 ~ 91 Points. "Really ripe black and blue fruit, a purple floral note with minty and peppery undertones. Generous, firm and tense tannins." - Decanter World Wine Awards 2025

OTHER INFO

Grapes were sourced from a selected plot measuring 3,11 hectares in the Leyda Valley, the well-known southern sub-region of San Antonio, 14 Kilometers from the Pacific Ocean. Cooled by the South Pacific breezes and coastal summer fog that often last until midday, the Leyda Valley climate extend the growing season, as its average summer maximum temperatures rarley exceed 25°C, ensuring slow ripening and the development of intense, fresh flavours and aromas, together with lower potential alcohol content.
