OTHER INFO

Leaping Horse is produced by Ironstone Wines, which is family owned and operated, located in the Sierra Foothills. Ironstone practices sustainable viticultural methods, such as crop reduction, leaf removal and drip irrigation, all to improve the quality of the grapes. Cover crops attract beneficial insects and create biodiversity in the vineyards. Even owl and duck boxes are found around the vineyards to help preserve the surrounding habitats. Leaping Horse is produced from Lodi vineyards. Lodi is planted to a wide variety of grapes, but most known for their Zinfandel. This Cabernet Sauvignon comes from soils that are sandy loam and well-drained allowing the wonderful ripeness come through to the grapes.
