AWARDS & ACCOLADES

2020 ~ 91 Points. WINE ENTHUSIAST'S TOP 100 BEST BUYS 2023. "Raspberry coulis and fresh soil with grass popping through on the nose turns to an almost cake-like raspberry and dark chocolate palate that nonetheless maintains the freshness of the nose with more soil and grass on the back, unchallenged by relaxed tannins and low acidity." - Wine Enthusiast, Aug/2023

2020 ~ "A fresh and bright red with inviting aromas and flavors of plums, plum skin and red currants. The palate is medium-bodied with fine-grained tannins." - James Suckling, Jul/2024

2020 ~ "The 2020 Primitivo di Manduria is understated in the glass, wafting up with black raspberry and spice aromas. This is soft and round on the palate, with ripe dark fruits." - Antonio Galloni's Vinous, May/2023

2020 ~ "A brambly red, with a tangy frame of orange peel acidity and an overtone of wild herbs, this medium-bodied version offers notes of ripe red currant and raspberry fruit, graphite and milled pepper. Fresh finish. Drink now." - Alison Napjus - Wine Spectator, Aug/2023

OTHER INFO

The Tommasi passion for wine and their desire to discover and select the very best in Italian winemaking have taken them to Puglia where you'll find the Masseria Surani estate. The Tommasi family purchased 80 hectares of land in the Salento area, one of the finest regions for the cultivation of the Primitivo grape. Here, viticulture has extremely ancient origins, dating back to the time of Magna Graecia.

The property, which lies about 6 km from the Ionian coast, also includes a manor house called 'Masseria' dating back to the early 1900s. A typical complex of agricultural buildings, which originally acted as an organizational centre for all of the farming operations. The renovated Masseria now houses a winery of 700 sqm; complete with winemaking and cellaring facilities.
