OTHER INFO

One of the most famous wineries in Germany, Moselland is best known world-wide for maintaining remarkably high standards - not an easy task for a cooperative with more than 5,000 grower members from all areas of the Mosel-Saar-Ruwer wine growing region. In the 20 pressing stations located throughout the region, Moselland takes in and presses about 25% of the region's harvest. The grapes are separated according to variety, location, and quality, then carefully pressed at the station before being transported to their cellars.
